Attached is the draft of the Job Description to go with Sgt. Lang's papers. The peculiar phraseology is due to the fact that it is adopted from the more or less formalised wording of the Job Description which was used on his previous application. If the description seems a shade emphatic over the nature and importance of the job that is because Lang was turned down previously on a Job Description that was fairly close to the present job (although much more general) and Col. Bigelow says that it is necessary to make this one somewhat stronger in view of the changed situation.
